An hour-long broadcast of teen panelists that will discuss their addiction and recovery process. The sooner you can recognize that your child or your friend is abusing alcohol or other drugs, the sooner you can seek help. If you notice changes in behavior, changes in friends, lying about after school or weekend activities, changes in mood, or depression, your teen or someone you know might have a problem with substance abuse. Also, hear from an expert in adolescent addiction and intervention. These topics among others will be discussed and will help others who are perhaps afraid or ashamed to seek help. The problem with addiction is that there are no rules as to who becomes a victim of this disease.

Recovery and the Family: Extending Treatment to Everyone

597199 VH

T 60 min 2008 MCTFT/CADCA

Nearly 24 percent of children (or 17 million) live in a household where a parent or other adult is a binge or heavy drinker, and approximately 13 percent of children (or 9.2 million) live in a household where a parent or other adult uses illicit drugs. Because the negative effects of addiction are not limited to the individual who is abusing drugs and alcohol, recovery must extend to the entire family. This program will present the many avenues toward effective treatment, emphasize the importance of getting an addicted loved one into treatment, and celebrate the benefits enjoyed by the family in recovery.
